Materia receives prestigious design award in New York.

On 20 May, we won the NYCxDESIGN Award for our Mr T in the category Furniture: Seating: Stool. The prestigious award honours outstanding design products and is created by Interior Design Magazine and ICFF (International Contemporary Furniture Fair). Over 700 submissions from 109 different countries participated in the competition.

"Mr T is a unique piece of furniture that makes an impression either on its own or in a group of stools. It is so exciting that it made it all the way and won in tough competition," says Tobias Söder, Sales and Marketing manager at Materia. The award was presented for the second year running by the leading design publication Interior Design Magazine and ICFF. The aim of the award is to promote innovative and outstanding design projects. The ceremony was held at MoMA (Museum of Modern Art) in New York, where 30 jury members decided on the various category winners.

Mr T is designed to let you sit in several different ways. The stool comes in two heights and can be upholstered in many different fabrics, making it easy to create a varied and interesting environment for both shorter and longer discussions.

Materia was founded in 1992 and is one of Scandinavia's most renowned brands within the field of design furniture for public spaces. The company develops and manufactures furniture and interior fittings with an innovative design that makes the user's everyday life easier.
